PDC Case 43940

Report of Investigation

I.

Background, Complaint and Allegations

- The Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State has been registered with the PDC as a Lobbyist Employer dating back to at least 1996, filing L-3 and L-3c reports disclosing expenditures made to hire a contract lobbyist to lobby, and contributions made to candidates and political committees.
- On December 11, 2018, the Public Disclosure Commission (PDC) received a complaint filed by Maxford Nelson with the Freedom Foundation against the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State (ATULC), alleging that the ATULC may have violated: (1) RCW 42.17A.205 by failing to register as a political committee by filing a Committee Registration (C-1pc report); and (2) RCW 42.17A.235 and .240 by failing to timely file Monetary Contributions reports (C-3 reports) and Summary Full Campaign Contribution and Expenditure reports (C-4 reports) disclosing contribution and expenditure activities undertaken during calendar years 2014 through 2018. Exhibit #1.
- On January 31, 2019, Mr. Nelson on behalf of the Freedom Foundation, submitted a supplemental letter in response to the letter submitted by Mr. Iglitzin. Exhibit #2.
- On March 7, 2019, the PDC opened a formal investigation into the Committee concerning the allegations listed in the complaint filed against the ATULC and held an Initial Hearing (Case Status Review Hearing) pursuant to RCW 42.17A.755 and WACs 390-37-060 and 390-37-071.

II.

Findings

- As a Lobbyist Employer registered and reporting with the PDC, ATULC has as one of its primary purposes is to support legislation through lobbying efforts, to which ATULC devoted significant resources and time on based on staff's review. ATULC also spends resources for ATU local members and membership services, transportation and transit issues, and overhead, and ATULC's stated goals and mission extend beyond making contributions to candidates for public office and political committees.
- The Commission had adopted PDC Interpretation 07-02, Primary Purpose Test Guidelines, which distills relevant case law and other legal guidance (AGO 1973 no. 14, State v. Dan Evans Committee, and Evergreen Freedom Foundation v. Washington Education Association) concerning the definition of "political committee" in RCW 42.17.020(39). The Interpretation goes on to state the following:

"The trial court here adopted the broad standard "one of the primary purposes" and applied it in formulating its own rule: An organization is a political committee if one of its primary purposes is to affect governmental decision making by supporting or opposing candidates or ballot propositions, and it makes or expects to make contributions in support of or in opposition to a candidate or ballot measure."

The Interpretation begins its analysis by noting that the trial court "correctly formulated this rule, and as the only mandatory authority on this issue, Evans controls interpretations of the "maker of expenditures" prong." In addition, the declaration of policy at the beginning of the Public Disclosure Act states that its "provisions are to be liberally construed "to promote complete disclosure of ... political campaigns...." RCW 42.17.010(11). The Interpretation states: "a person is a political committee if that person becomes a "receiver of contributions" to support or oppose candidates or ballot propositions, or if expenditures to support or oppose candidates or ballot propositions become one of the person's primary purposes."

The Interpretation also discusses "a nonexclusive list of analytical tools a court may use when evaluating the evidence includes: (1) the content of the stated goals and mission of the organization; (2) whether the organization's actions further its stated goals and mission; (3) whether the stated goals and mission of the organization would be substantially achieved by a favorable outcome in an upcoming election; and (4) whether the organization uses means other than electoral political activity to achieve its stated goals and mission."

- Staff's review of the response from Dmitri Iglitzin, an attorney on behalf of Schwerin Campbell Barnard Iglitzin & Lavitt LLP on behalf of Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State (ATULC), and the lobbying activities undertaken by the ATULC for calendar years 2014 through 2018, including contributions made to candidates and political committees, found the following as detailed below.

2014 calendar year:

- ATULC made $80,507 in total expenditures that included $18,745 in monetary contributions made to 2014 candidates for public office. He stated that the percentage of expenditures for contributions made to total contributions represented 23%.

- Staff's review of the L-3 report filed by the ATULC for calendar year 2014 disclosed Cody Arledge, a contract lobbyist, received a total of $31,999 in compensation to lobby. The L-3 report for 2014 was required to have been filed the last day of February 2015 and was filed almost one year late on February 22, 2016.

2015 calendar year:

- Staff's review found that ATULC filed two L-3c reports disclosing five monetary contributions totaling $3,900 were made to two 2015 candidates for public office, one caucus political committee, one legislative district party committee, and one caucus related political committee.
- The review also found that ATULC filed the L-3 report disclosing Cody Arledge, a contract lobbyist, received a total of $35,600 in compensation to lobby during calendar year 2015. The L-3 report for calendar year 2015 was required to have been filed by ATULC by the last day of February 2016 and was timely filed on February 22, 2016.

2016 calendar year:

- ATULC made $101,443 in total expenditures that included $35,451 in monetary contributions made to 2016 candidates for public office. He stated that ATULC's percentage of expenditures for contributions made to total contributions represented 35% for calendar year 2016.
- Staff's review of the L-3 report filed by the ATULC disclosed that Johnson Arledge Strategies, a contract lobbying firm, received a total of $25,200 in compensation to lobby during calendar year 2016. The L-3 report for 2016 was required to have been filed the last day of February 2017 and was filed almost one year late on January 31, 2018. Staff's review found the L-3c reports filed by ATULC for calendar year 2016 timely disclosed 41 monetary contributions totaling $34,500 except for one contribution disclosed one day late as follows:

Contribution Date	Date Due	Date Filed	# of contributions	Amount	Days Late

Totals			41 total contributions	$ 34,500

2017 calendar year:

- Staff's review found that ATULC filed two L-3c reports disclosing six monetary contributions totaling $3,250 were made to 2017 candidates for public office.

- The L-3 report filed by the ATULC disclosed that Johnson Arledge Strategies, a contract lobbying firm, received a total of $31,976 in compensation to lobby during calendar year 2017. The L-3 report for 2017 was required to have been filed the last day of February 2018 and was timely filed on January 31, 2018.

- ATULC made $104,227 in total expenditures that included $31,367 in monetary contributions made to 2018 candidates for public office. He stated that ATULC's percentage of expenditures for contributions made to total contributions represented 30% in calendar year 2018.
- Staff's review of the L-3 report filed by the ATULC disclosed that the Arledge Group, a contract lobbying firm, received a total of $33,096 in compensation to lobby during calendar year 2018. The L-3 report for 2018 was required to have been filed the last day of February 2019 and was timely filed on February 28, 2019.

Responses from Dmitri Iglitzin:

- Mr. Iglitzin submitted a total of three responses on behalf of ATULC that included the initial response received by the PDC on January 19, 2019 (Exhibit #3); a supplemental response to PDC staff's questions that was received on March 11, 2019 (Exhibit #4); and additional information as a follow-up to the March 11th response that was received on March 15, 2019 (Exhibit #5).
- Mr. Iglitzin stated that ATULC devotes its efforts, time and resources in three main areas that includes supporting "substantial lobbying efforts at ATULC's expense" at the state level; providing educational training for Amalgamated Transit Union (ATU) locals and their members; and providing a forum for information to ATU locals and their members. As noted above, ATULC has been registered and reporting as a Lobbyist Employer for at least 25 years and lobbying activities are where the majority of ATULC funds are spent.
- Mr. Iglitzin stated that one of ATULC purposes is to support legislation through lobbying efforts and added "while ATULC participates in elections by making contributions that support candidates, or that support or oppose ballot measures, it is not one of ATULC's primary purposes." He stated that an analysis of ATULC's average spending indicates only 22.6% of its expenditures over the past five years has been dedicated to electoral political activity. He stated by contrast, ATULC spent just shy of that – 22.3% of its expenditures over five years – on office and administrative expenses alone, and added ATULC spent roughly the same amount of money supporting/opposing candidates and ballot measures for the three year period as it spent on overhead, which does not indicate it's one of ATULC's primary purposes.
- Mr. Iglitzin stated the ATULC "devotes its efforts to functioning as a forum for Washington State ATU locals and providing educational training for those locals and their members, as well as to support substantial lobbying efforts at ATULC's expense." He acknowledged ATULC made expenditures in support of candidates or election initiatives during the period covered in the complaint, however "electoral political activity is not one of ATULC's primary purposes."

- Mr. Iglitzin stated that “An assessment of whether electoral activity is one of an organization’s primary goals looks to, among other things, the stated goals and mission of the organization, whether the organization’s actions further its stated goals and mission, whether the stated goals and mission would be substantially achieved by a favorable outcome in an upcoming election, and whether the organization uses means other than electoral activity to achieve those goals... The stated goals of ATULC, its actions to further those goals, the impact of a favorable election on those goals, and the means which ATULC uses to achieve those goals all establish that the organization does not qualify as a political committee under the expenditures prong.”
- Mr. Iglitzin stated that ATULC’s own website explains that its purposes are to: (1) “Protect the rights of the members of the Amalgamated Transit Union at the level of political activity that can be generated by the combined efforts of this Legislative Council composed of the Local unions embodied within the State of Washington; (2) Promote and support new legislation before the government bodies of our State by lobbying effectively with the elected officials who have the authority and responsibility of representing the citizens of Washington State; (3) Cooperate with our Local Unions, and to form a stronger political bond of cohesion with the Washington State Labor Council, and other Labor Councils in the cities where our transit Locals are centered; and (4) Encourage our memberships to be politically alert on matters that affect their livelihood and create a more favorable public sentiment towards the Transportation Industry.”
- Mr. Iglitzin stated ATULC does not receive dues payments from individual union members, and instead receives lump sum transfers from local transit unions, with those lump sum transfers to ATULC from the locals being the only funds received. He stated individual members’ dues payments are not segregated into a fund for political purposes even at the local level, much less by ATULC and instead the ATU locals transmit money to ATULC on a per capita basis based on the number of dues paying members for each local unit.
- Mr. Iglitzin stated that ATULC does not qualify as a political committee under the “maker of expenditures” found in RCW 42.17A.005(41) which “not only have made or expected to make expenditures in support of a candidate or election initiative, it must also have had as one of its primary purposes supporting election candidates or initiatives.” He provided information in response to staffs request concerning ATULC expenditure activities for calendar years 2014, 2016, and 2018 and staff reviewed filing information covering 2014-2018.

Staff Analysis, Summary and late filed L-3 report:

- ATULC’s percentage of expenditures for monetary contributions to candidates and political committees was 35% in 2016, and 30% in 2018, respectively. Staff, however, noted that 33 of the 41 contributions made by ATULC in 2016 contributions were expenditures made on two dates: June 3, 2016 (21 contributions); and September 16, 2016 (11 contributions).
- Staff noted that more than 80% of the ATULC contributions made to candidates for public office in 2016 were made over the course of two days. In contrast, its lobbying and membership outreach and services were ongoing throughout the calendar year. Although ATULC made expenditures in support of candidates, the totality of the evidence does not suggest that ATULC is a political committee, because the making of those expenditures was not its primary purpose, or even one of its primary purposes.

- On January 31, 2018, ATULC filed the L-3 report for calendar year 2016 disclosing that Johnson Arledge Strategies, a contract lobbying firm, provided lobbying services during the 2016 Legislative Session and the remainder of calendar year 2016. The L-3 report disclosed that ATULC made payments totaling $25,200 to Johnson Arledge Strategies as compensation for lobbying services.
- The L-3 report for calendar year 2016 was required to have been filed by ATULC no later than the last day of February 2017. While not listed as an allegation in the complaint filed against the ATULC, the L-3 report was filed 337 days late by ATULC on January 31, 2018.
- On April 2, 2020, ATULC completed a Statement of Understanding (SOU) and paid a $150 civil penalty in accordance with WAC 390-37-143 (Brief Enforcement Penalty Schedule), acknowledging a violation of RCW 42.17A.630 for failing to timely file the Annual Report of Lobbyist Employers (L-3 reports) for calendar year 2016.
- The $150 penalty assessed and paid by ATULC in this matter resolves the issue of the late filed L-3 report for 2016.

Public Disclosure Commission
711 Capitol Way S. #206
P.O. Box 40908
Olympia, WA 98504

Public Disclosure Commission Staff,

Pursuant to RCW 42.17A.775, I write to report violations of the Fair Campaign Practices Act (“FCPA”), Chapter 42.17A RCW, by the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State (“ATULC”).<sup>1</sup>

In brief, ATULC has operated as a political committee for years without filing a statement of organization with the Public Disclosure Commission (“PDC”) as required by RCW 42.17A.205. As an unregistered political committee, ATULC has also failed to comply with the other provisions of Chapter 42.17A RCW governing the conduct and reporting requirements of political committees.

ATULC not only describes its purpose in explicitly political terms, but it receives contributions from ATU locals around Washington with the understanding the funds will be used to advance electoral political activity. In election years, ATULC spending on political activity increases dramatically, to half or more of its total expenditures. ATULC has no full-time staff and, beyond what appear to be basic administrative costs, has little-to-no expenses other than political contributions. Accordingly, it satisfies both the “receiver of contributions” and “maker of expenditures” prongs of the definition of “political committee” as recognized by the courts and should be held to account for its lack of disclosure.

Factual background

Section 40.2 of the Amalgamated Transit Union (“ATU”) Constitution and General Laws allows local unions in a state to form a statewide entity for the purpose of coordinating political activity, providing:

“Where a majority of the LUs [local unions] in a state or province, with the approval of the IU [international union], enact to form a joint conference board for mutual aid and protection, exchange of information, the furthering of organizing and organizing campaigns, legislative and political action, and community action programs, in accordance with the charters or directions issued by the IU, then, in that event, all LUs within that state or province shall be obligated to affiliate and support the work of such joint conference board. The conference board shall establish monthly per capita tax through the bylaws of such conference board as approved by the IP [international president].”<sup>2</sup>

The ATULC is such a “joint conference board” for ATU locals in Washington. Its website describes its purpose as follows:

“The Washington State Legislative Council exists under the authorization of the Amalgamated Transit Union International Constitution and General By-Laws.

To protect the rights of the members of the Amalgamated Transit Union at the level of political activity that can be generated by the combined efforts of this Legislative Council composed of the Local Unions embodied within the State of Washington.

To promote and support new legislation before the government bodies of our State by lobbying effectively with the elected officials who have the authority and responsibility of representing the citizens of Washington State.

To cooperate with our Local Unions, and to form a stronger political bond of cohesion with the Washington State Labor Council, and other Labor Councils in the cities where our transit Locals are centered.

To encourage our memberships to be politically alert on matters that affect their livelihood, and create a more favorable public sentiment towards the Transportation Industry.”<sup>3</sup>

See App. 206.

The ATULC filed a form 8871, notice of Section 527 status, with the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) in 2007, claiming the tax benefits of a “political organization” under federal law. See App. 207. 26 U.S.C. § 527(e)(1) defines “political organization” as:

“...a party, committee, association, fund, or other organization (whether or not incorporated) organized and operated primarily for the purpose of directly or indirectly accepting contributions or making expenditures, or both, for an exempt function.”

“Exempt function” is defined by subsection (e)(2) as:

“...the function of influencing or attempting to influence the selection, nomination, election, or appointment of any individual to any Federal, State, or local public office...”

ATULC describes its purpose on its form 8871 as, “promot[ing] legislation and candidates

According to financial disclosure forms LM-3 ATULC files with the U.S. Department of Labor’s Office of Labor Management Standards (“OLMS”) in accordance with the federal Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959, ATULC has no paid staff and is run by a board of unpaid volunteers comprised of union officials from ATU locals in Washington. See App. 236.

Its forms LM-3 divide ATULC’s annual expenditures into four categories: (1) Office and administrative expense<sup>4</sup>; (2) professional fees<sup>5</sup>; (3) contributions, gifts and grants<sup>6</sup>; and (4) other.<sup>7</sup> See App. 213, 217, 222, 227, 232, and 237.

Beyond the basic administrative costs necessary to exist, ATULC’s only expenditures are for “contributions, gifts and grants.” On average, this category accounts for half of ATULC’s expenditures, a proportion that consistently spikes during election years.

Most, if not all, of the expenditures in the “contributions, gifts and grants” category are for political contributions to candidates, ballot measures and political committees.

For instance, on its forms LM-3 for 2014 and 2015, ATULC itemized its political contributions under item 56, reporting $29,150 in contributions in 2014 (out of $36,594 total contributions, gifts and grants) and $10,400 in 2013 (exactly the same as the amount of reported contributions, gifts and grants). See App. 223 and 228.

Tracking ATULC’s political expenditures in disclosures filed with the PDC is difficult. Since ATULC has not registered as a political committee, the only records of its expenditures are those filed by recipients of ATULC funds. Recipients use multiple different titles/labels to describe ATULC.

Records the Freedom Foundation has been able to identify appear to indicate that ATULC made political expenditures totaling at least $61,265 in 2012, $12,000 in 2013, $24,650 in 2014,

<sup>7</sup> See Statement B, item 54 of the forms LM-3. There are no expenses listed in this category for 2012-15 or 2017. There are $983 worth of “other” expenses recorded on the 2016 form LM-3.

$4,900 in 2015, $43,050 in 2016, $3,950 in 2017, and $30,000 in 2018. See App. 239-245.

Violations of the FCPA

RCW 42.17A.205 requires every “political committee” to “file a statement of organization” with the PDC “within two weeks after organization or within two weeks after the date the committee first has the expectation of receiving contributions or making expenditures in any election campaign, whichever is earlier.”

RCW 42.17A.005(40) defines “political committee” as:

“...any person... having the expectation of receiving contributions or making expenditures in support of, or opposition to, any candidate or any ballot proposition.”

Three Washington court decisions have clarified and interpreted this definition.

In State of Washington v. Dan J. Evans Campaign Committee, 86 Wn.2d 503 (1976), the State Supreme Court determined that an entity satisfies the expenditures prong of the definition of “political committee” if affecting, “directly or indirectly, governmental decision making by supporting or opposing candidates or ballot propositions” is “the primary or one of the primary purposes” of the entity.

In Utter v. Bldg. Indus. Ass'n of Washington, 182 Wn.2d 398 (2015), the Washington State Supreme Court confirmed that an organization may be considered a “political committee” if one of its primary purposes is to engage in electoral political activity; electoral political activity need not be the primary purpose of the entity for it to fulfill the definition of “political committee.”

Lastly, in State ex rel. Evergreen Freedom Foundation v. Washington Education Association, 111 Wn. 586 (2002), the court of appeals interpreted the definition of “political committee” to mean,

“...a person or organization may become a political committee by either (1) expecting to receive or receiving contributions, or (2) expecting to make or making expenditures to further electoral political goals.”

ATULC fulfills both the “receiver of contributions” and “maker of expenditures” prongs of the definition of “political committee.”

The per capita payments ATULC receives from ATU locals in Washington are contributions made in expectation of furthering electoral political goals. Because the bylaws of the national ATU requires ATU locals to pay per capita taxes to ATULC as a “joint conference board,” ATULC has an expectation of receiving and does receive the per capita payments to use as political contributions.

This alone is sufficient to qualify ATULC as a political committee under the “receiver of contributions” prong. However, ATULC also fulfills the “expenditures prong” of the definition of “political committee.”

In EFF v. WEA, the appeals court expounded on the primary purpose test established by the State Supreme Court in State of Washington v. Dan Evans, including the following observations:

“...an appropriate framework for determining whether electoral political activity is one of an organization's primary purposes should include an examination of the stated goals and mission of the organization and whether electoral political activity was a primary means of achieving the stated goals and mission during the period in question. Under this analysis, a nonexclusive list of analytical tools a court may use when evaluating the evidence includes: (1) the content of the stated goals and mission of the organization; (2) whether the organization's actions further its stated goals and mission; (3) whether the stated goals and mission of the organization would be substantially achieved by a favorable outcome in an upcoming election; and (4) whether the organization uses means other than electoral political activity to achieve its stated goals and mission.”

ATULC repeatedly describes its own purpose as engaging in “political activity” and “promoting candidates.”

Additionally, the organization’s actions clearly line up with its stated goals. Indeed, an analysis of ATULC’s finances indicates that it performs no substantive function that is not political. Other than administrative expenses, ATULC appears to have few expenses other than the making of political contributions. With no staff and little other measurable activity to speak of, it does not appear that ATULC “uses means other than electoral political activity to achieve its stated [political] goals and mission.”

To be considered a “political committee” under the expenditures prong for the purposes of the FCPA, ATULC need only have as one of its primary purposes the influencing of electoral political activity. It meets this threshold without question.

Lastly, it is worth noting that, in a situation with almost identical facts, the Washington State Attorney General’s Office is currently prosecuting the SEIU Washington State Council for its failure to register and report to the PDC as a political committee.<sup>8</sup> Like ATULC, the SEIU Washington State Council is an entity created under the national SEIU bylaws that collects a per capita tax from all SEIU locals in Washington for the purposes of engaging in and coordinating SEIU’s electoral political activity in Washington.

Conclusion

ATULC’s failure to register and report as a political committee as required by the FCPA has tangibly negative implications for the transparency of Washington elections. For example, political contributions made by ATULC are labeled differently by various recipients of ATULC funds, making it difficult to know the true source of the contributions and to track ATULC’s political activity.

Further, the reporting regime required by the law requires both the contributing political committee and the receiving political committee or candidate to report the transaction to the PDC. This dual reporting promotes transparency, as both the contributor and recipient would have to fail to report the transfer of funds for it to go unnoticed. ATULC's failure to properly register as a political committee thwarts this system of accountability. Since ATULC already does not report its contributions, the transfer of funds would be invisible to the public if only the recipients of ATULC funds neglected to report as required.

We respectfully request that the PDC perform an investigation into these allegations and take appropriate enforcement action. Please do not hesitate to contact me if I can be of assistance.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Re: Case No. 43940

Ms. Blacksmith,

I have reviewed the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council's ("ATULC") January 17, 2019 response to my citizen action complaint filed December 11, 2018 and would like to address several issues.

First, ATULC's response to the contention that it is a "political committee" under the "receiver of contributions" consists primarily of diversionary arguments designed to confuse the issue.

The first two paragraphs of the union's response discuss the criteria used by the Court of Appeals in Evergreen Freedom Found. v. Washington Educ. Ass'n, 111 Wn. App. 586, 602 (2002) to evaluate whether the Washington Education Association was a political committee. As noted by ATULC, the court held that, if an organization is funded by members, it is not a "political committee" unless "members' payments are segregated into a fund for political purposes and members know or should know about that segregation..."

That analysis would be relevant if the complaint alleged that a specific ATU local was itself a political committee because some of the funds it collects from its members were being set aside for political use.

However, beyond its discussion of the "receiver of contributions" and "maker of expenditures" prongs, WEA is inapplicable to the case at hand because, as ATULC admits, it "does not receive dues from union members at all." The form LM-3 ATULC filed with the U.S. Department of Labor for calendar year 2017 also indicated the union had zero members. See original Appendix page 235.

Instead, as pointed out in the original complaint and confirmed by the ATULC in its response, it is funded by per capita payments made by ATU local unions in Washington. Accordingly, the question is whether the leadership, not the membership, of these local unions is aware the payments their local unions make to ATULC are for political expenditures.

ATULC president Roy Jennings is also "a member of the Executive Board of the Amalgamated Transit Union Local 757” in Portland.<sup>1</sup> ATULC vice president Richard “Rick” Swartz is also secretary-treasurer for ATU Local 883 in Everett.<sup>2</sup> And ATULC secretary-treasurer Albert Walcott is also the president of ATU Local 843 in Bellingham.<sup>3</sup>

Given that each of ATULC’s officers are also officials for ATU locals in Washington, it is inconceivable that they and their unions are unaware that the funds paid to ATULC are intended for electoral political activity.

Even ATULC effectively concedes that ATU locals know some of the money paid to ATULC will be used for political expenditures, contending instead, “There is no way that ATU locals can know in advance what proportion of the per capita payments they provide to ATULC will be spent by ATULC on electoral political activity.” (Emphasis added)

But ATU locals undoubtedly know, given their involvement with ATULC and its mission to engage in political activity, that a substantial portion — if not a majority — of the funds they direct to ATULC will be used on electoral political activity. They need not know in advance the exact proportion that will be used for political expenditures. The fact that ATU bylaws require ATU locals to transfer the funds to ATULC means it has an expectation of receiving and does receive contributions from ATU locals for electoral political activity and, accordingly, it satisfies the definition of “political committee” under the “receiver of contributions” prong.

Second, ATULC contends it is not a political committee under the “maker of expenditures prong” because “electoral political activity is not one of ATULC’s primary purposes.” Here again, ATULC’s response misconstrues the original complaint and tries to redefine its previously stated purpose in nonpolitical terms in an attempt to muddy the waters.

In its response, ATULC describes its mission and purpose in the following ways:

- “[F]urthering ATU locals’ members’ interests through legislation, cooperation, and coalition building throughout the transportation industry.”
- “[F]unctioning as a forum for Washington State ATU locals and providing educational training for those locals and their members, as well as to support substantial lobbying efforts at ATULC’s expense.”

Such creative revisions of ATULC’s previously stated purposes smack of desperation.

As noted in the original complaint and entirely ignored by ATULC in its response, ATULC has informed the IRS that its purpose is to “promote legislation and candidates supportive for Amalgamated Transit Union member in the State of Washington.” See original App. 207.

And the stated mission of the ATULC posted on its website — to engage in “political activity,” “promote and support new legislation,” “form a stronger political bond of cohesion” with other unions, and encourage ATU members to “be politically alert,” in that order — speaks for itself, despite the union's present attempt at revisionist history.

In light of such clarity, ATULC's accusation that the original complaint "twists" and "misrepresents" its stated purpose with "wholly concocted language" is just plain wrong.

ATULC emphasizes heavily in its response that lobbying is one of its primary purposes. That may be the case; its mission statements clearly suggest as much. But equally clear is that electoral political activity is its other primary purpose.

Just existing involves a certain baseline level of administrative expenses. As a small organization, these administrative expenses constitute a respectable percentage of ATULC's overall budget. But since merely existing as a legal entity is not a primary purpose, we must examine the rest of ATULC's expenses to determine its purpose(s). During election years, political expenditures can constitute half or more of ATULC's receipts/expenditures. Presumably, if ATULC's claims are correct, much of the rest goes towards lobbying activities.

Based on these numbers — which ATULC has not contested — there is simply no disputing that electoral political activity constitutes one of ATULC's two primary purposes. That is more than sufficient to qualify it as a political committee.

ATULC even admits that, "in some years ATULC did spend a substantial amount of money in support of or in opposition to candidates and ballot measures." Citing WEA, however, ATULC claims it only made such expenditures "to achieve its legitimate broad nonpolitical goals, and its admission that it engages in such activity to that end does not make that activity one of its primary purposes."

Yet the court in WEA also noted, "If the activities of an organization reveal that a majority of its efforts are put toward electoral political activity, the fact finder may disregard the organization's stated goals to the contrary." In 2016, over half of the funds (at least) received by ATULC were expended on electoral political activity.

At any rate, in this case, both ATULC's stated goals and actions are in alignment: It proclaims electoral political activity to be one of its primary purposes and expends its funds accordingly. The only conclusion that can be reached is that ATULC is an unregistered political committee.

Re: Complaint from The Freedom Foundation
PDC Case No. 43940
BIL File No. 3327-002

Dear Mr. Lavallee:

We write to you on behalf of our client, the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State ("ATULC"), in response to the e-mail we received from you on December 13, 2018, regarding a 45-day Citizen Action Letter filed by The Freedom Foundation ("Freedom Foundation") with the Washington Attorney General's Office on December 11, 2018 ("Complaint").

Respectfully, we believe the allegations made by Freedom Foundation are without merit. As noted in its complaint, under RCW 42.17A.005(41), "'Political committee' means any person . . . having the expectation of receiving contributions or making expenditures in support of, or opposition to, any candidate or any ballot proposition." Elaborating on that definition, the state Supreme Court has noted that "the legislature provided a skeletal outline of the salient characteristics of a political committee. The definition, though, was not drafted to ensnare indiscriminately all persons seeking to influence governmental decision-making by their contributions given in support of or opposition to candidates or ballot propositions." State v. 1972 Dan J. Evans Campaign Comm., 86 Wn.2d 503, 508 (1976).

Taking into account the statutory definition prescribed by the state legislature and the applicable case law, ATULC is not an unregistered political committee under either the "receiver of contributions" or "maker of expenditures" prongs of the statute. Accordingly, it has not violated any of the reporting requirements that otherwise would have been applicable to it.

ATULC is not an unregistered political committee under the “receiver of contributions” prong.

ATULC does not qualify as an unregistered political committee under the “receiver of contributions” prong of RCW 42.17A.005(41). In interpreting RCW 42.17.010(33) (since recodified as RCW 42.17A.005(41)), the Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court’s adoption of a 1973 Attorney General Letter Opinion noting that, “[w]hen an organization is funded primarily by membership dues, it is a ‘receiver of contributions’ if the members are called upon to make payments that are segregated for political purposes and the members know, or reasonably should know, of this political purpose.” Evergreen Freedom Found. v. Washington Educ. Ass’n, 111 Wn. App. 586, 602 (2002) (“WEA”), (quoting 1973 Lett. Op. Att’y Gen. No 114, at 4). In that letter opinion, the Attorney General stated that “if the only source of revenue of [an] organization is use or assessments to fund general operations, and the membership has no actual or constructive knowledge that the organization is setting aside funds to support or oppose a ballot proposition, then the organization is not a political committee under the ‘receiver of contributions’ prong.” WEA, 111 Wn. App. at 602.

However, if members’ payments are segregated into a fund for political purposes and members know or should know about that segregation, those payments are contributions, qualifying the organization as a receiver of contributions and a political committee. Id. at 602-03. Applying that reasoning, the WEA found that the WEA was not a receiver of contributions, because members paid dues into a general fund which was not segregated in any manner for political expenditures; accordingly, the members had no actual or constructive knowledge that their dues would be used for electoral political activity. The dues, therefore, were not contributions, and WEA did not qualify as a political committee under the receiver of contributions prong. Id. at 603.

Here, ATULC does not receive dues from union members at all. Instead, it receives dues from Amalgamated Transit Union locals. The locals transmit money to ATULC from the moneys they receive from their members. Individual union members’ dues payments are not segregated into a fund for political purposes even at the local level, much less by ATULC. Instead, the locals transmit money to ATULC on a per capita basis based on the number of dues-paying members each local has.

The Freedom Foundation’s argument that these per capita payments to ATULC from ATU locals none-the-less qualify as contributions lacks merit. There is no way that ATU locals can know in advance what proportion of the per capita payments they provide to ATULC will be spent by ATULC on electoral political activity. Much less could any members of those locals have any idea what that proportion might be. All money received by ATULC is spent as ATULC deems appropriate, after due consideration, in pursuit of ATULC’s goal of furthering ATU locals’ members’ interests through legislation, cooperation, and coalition building throughout the transportation industry. None of the money it receives is earmarked at the time of receipt for any particular use. Accordingly, Freedom Foundation’s assertion that ATULC is a receiver of contributions under RCW 42.17A.005(41) is without merit.

ATULC is not an unregistered political committee under the “maker of expenditures” prong.

ATULC also does not qualify under the “maker of expenditures” prong of RCW 42.17A.005(41). To qualify as a political committee under the expenditure prong an organization must not only have made or expected to make expenditures in support of a candidate or election initiative, it must also have had as one of its primary purposes supporting election candidates or initiatives. Utter v. Bldg. Indus. Ass’n. of Washington, 182 Wn.2d 398, 419 (2015). While ATULC has made some expenditures in support of candidates or election initiatives, electoral political activity is not one of ATULC’s primary purposes. Instead, ATULC devotes its efforts to functioning as a forum for Washington State ATU locals and providing educational training for those locals and their members, as well as to support substantial lobbying efforts at ATULC’s expense.

When the primary purpose or one of the primary purposes of a person making a contribution is to affect, directly or indirectly, governmental decision-making by supporting or opposing candidates or ballot propositions, that person becomes a political committee and is subject to disclosure requirements under Washington law. 1972 Dan J. Evans Campaign Comm., 86 Wn.2d at 509. Put another way, an organization is not considered a political committee under the expenditure prong “unless it also has the support of a political candidate or initiative as the primary [purpose] or one of the primary purposes.” Utter, 182 Wn.2d at 415. In contrast, “if electoral political activity is merely one means the organization uses to achieve its legitimate broad nonpolitical goals,” the organization does not qualify under the expenditure prong because “electoral political activity cannot be said to be one of the organization’s primary purposes.” WEA, 111 Wn. App. at 600 (emphasis added).

An assessment of whether electoral activity is one of an organization’s primary goals looks to, among other things, the stated goals and mission of the organization, whether the organization’s actions further its stated goals and mission, whether the stated goals and mission would be substantially achieved by a favorable outcome in an upcoming election, and whether the organization uses means other than electoral activity to achieve those goals. Id. at 599-600.

The stated goals of ATULC, its actions to further those goals, the impact of a favorable election on those goals, and the means which ATULC uses to achieve those goals all establish that the organization does not qualify as a political committee under the expenditures prong.

As noted both on ATULC’s website and in Freedom Foundation’s own complaint, ATULC explains that its purposes are:

To protect the rights of the members of the Amalgamated Transit Union at the level of political activity that can be generated by the combined efforts of this Legislative Council composed of the Local unions embodied within the State of Washington.

To promote and support new legislation before the government bodies of our State by lobbying effectively with the elected officials who have the authority and responsibility of representing the citizens of Washington State.

To cooperate with our Local Unions, and to form a stronger political bond of cohesion with the Washington State Labor Council, and other Labor Councils in the cities where our transit Locals are centered.

To encourage our memberships to be politically alert on matters that affect their livelihood, and create a more favorable public sentiment towards the Transportation Industry.

Our Purpose, Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council (January 14, 2019, 5:11 PM), http://www.atulcwa.org/index.cfm?zone=/unionactive/view\_article.cfm&HomeID=510298.

Though ATULC does not hide that its purposes include supporting legislation through lobbying efforts, which is in fact what it spends the bulk of its money on, it does not state that participating in elections through support or opposition of either candidates or ballot measures is one of its primary purposes. Though Freedom Foundation alleges that “ATULC repeatedly describes its own purpose as ‘engaging in political activity’ and ‘promoting candidates,’” it either twists ATULC’s purpose statement so far as to misrepresent it or wholly concocts language to suit its purposes. The phrase “engaging in political activity” and “promoting candidates” do not appear in ATULC’s mission statement. Supporting legislation through direct lobbying of elected officials is not the same as promoting (or opposing) candidates or ballot measures.

Likewise, ATULC’s actions serve to further its stated goals and mission, and the portion of its expenditures dedicated to electoral political activity reflect that political activity in and of itself is not one ATULC’s primary purposes. Even adopting the figures Freedom Foundation asserts in its complaint, analysis of ATULC’s average spending indicates only 22.6% of its expenditures over the past five years has been dedicated to electoral political activity. In contrast, it spent just shy of that – 22.3% of its expenditures over five years – on office and administrative expenses alone. That ATULC spent roughly the same amount of money supporting (or opposing) candidates and ballot initiatives as it does on overhead militates against the conclusion that the former is one of ATULC’s primary purposes.

Nor does the fact that in some years ATULC did spend a substantial amount of money in support of or in opposition to candidates and ballot measures justify a different conclusion. As in WEA, ATULC engages in electoral political activity to achieve its legitimate broad nonpolitical goals, and its admission that it engages in such activity to that end does not make that activity one of its primary purposes. WEA, 111 Wn. App. at 600. No evidence has been suggested, for example, indicating that favorable candidate or ballot measure election results would substantially further ATULC’s goals, much less render further activity by ATULC unnecessary; the absence of such evidence confirms that there is no basis on which to conclude that obtaining such election results is one of ATULC’s primary purposes.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, ATULC is not an unregistered political committee under either the receiver of contributions prong or maker of expenditures prong of RCW 42.17A.005(41). Accordingly, Freedom Foundation's complaint is without merit.

Re: Complaint from the Freedom Foundation
PDC Case No. 43940
BIL File No. 3327-002

Dear Mr. Young:

We write to you on behalf of our client, the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council of Washington State ("ATULC"), in response to your February 26, 2019, letter regarding the Freedom Foundation's complaint against our client.

ATULC has compiled information in response to your request for further information regarding the years 2014 to 2018.

- What were ATULC's annual total receipts and expenditures?
  - In 2014, ATULC's receipts totaled $89,954.51 and its expenditures totaled $80,507.30.
  - In 2015, ATULC's receipts totaled $85,714.84 and its expenditures totaled $61,369.03.
  - In 2016, ATULC's receipts totaled $85,409.73 and its expenditures totaled $101,443.04.
  - In 2017, ATULC's receipts totaled $92,973.32 and its expenditures totaled $67,153.61.
  - In 2018, ATULC's receipts totaled $82,226.81 and its expenditures totaled $104,227.26.

We need to note again here, however, that the Freedom Foundation's focus on the relationship between electoral political expenditures in a given year and the spending entity's total receipts that year is conceptually misguided. Instead, ATULC's political expenditures must be viewed in relation to, and in the context of, ATULC's overall expenditures.

In its complaint, Freedom Foundation appears to allege that an organization's purpose may be established as political by comparing its annual receipts to its expenditures on electoral political activity. However, such a standard would be both over- and under-inclusive.

First, this standard would lead to the misclassification of organizations that, in a given year, make expenditures predominately on electoral political activity, where those expenditures happen to represent only a modest fraction of the organization's receipts that year. That would clearly be a legal error.

Second, such a standard could lead to the conclusion that an organization, like ATULC, that happens to have a big year on the expenditure side relative to its receipts, has a primary purpose of electoral political activity, even if its expenditures for electoral political activity fall well below a majority of its total expenditures during that calendar year (or campaign season), merely because those expenditures are large relative to the organization's receipts.

The appropriate standard, in contrast, and the one that should be applied here, compares an organization's overall expenditures during the relevant time period to the expenditures it has made for electoral political activity. Applying that standard here, as we noted previously, it is clear that between 2014 and 2018 ATULC expended far less than a majority of its efforts on electoral political activity and such activity was not one of its primary purposes. Whether money expended on all of these activities was raised in one year or another is simply irrelevant to this analysis.

- What were the amounts of expenditures by category, using the same categories used by Mr. Nelson on Page 3 of his complaint?
  - In 2014, ATULC spent $11,380.27 on office and administrative expenses; $32,224 on professional fees; $36,594 on contributions, gifts, and grants; and $308.53 on other expenses.
  - In 2015, ATULC spent $14,648.05 on office and administrative expenses; $35,860 on professional fees; $10,400 on contributions, gifts, and grants; and $234.32 on other expenses.
  - In 2016, ATULC spent $21,117.62 on office and administrative expenses; $29,410.38 on professional fees; $49,500 on contributions, gifts, and grants; and $432.14 on other expenses.
  - In 2017, ATULC spent $22,976.58 on office and administrative expenses; $33,885.40 on professional fees; $9,700 on contributions, gifts, and grants; and $449.96 on other expenses.
  - In 2018, ATULC spent $25,514.88 on office and administrative expenses; $42,282.92 on professional fees; $34,900 on contributions, gifts, and grants; and $1,579.46 on other expenses.

Please note, however, that the ATULC's definition of "contributions, gifts, and grants" is in no way coextensive with the FCPA's definition of electoral political activity. Thus, the sums set forth above as having been spent on "contributions, gifts, and grants" are much larger than the amount of money ATULC spent on electoral political activity and should not be misunderstood as representing that sum.

- What were ATULC's PDC contributions supporting or opposing a candidate, ballot proposition, or political committee, including but not limited to expenditures for political committee fundraising and electioneering communications as defined by RCW 42.17A.005(22)(a)?

ATULC, not being a political committee, and being a totally volunteer-run organization, has not had any reason to retain separate records relating to its contributions supporting or opposing candidates or ballot measures or to political committees, as opposed to the other charitable expenditures it has made and other organizations (not political committees) that it has supported (i.e., all of its other "contributions, gifts, and grants"). However, we can tell you that ATULC has not separately fundraised or engaged in electioneering communications as defined by RCW 42.17A.005(22)(a). The best accounting of ATULC's "PDC contributions," as defined above, will be found in the PDC's database, as all of those contributions would have been reported by the recipients.

- What were ATULC's expenditures made to or in support of employees, directors, leaders, or contractors, including lobbyists, for work related to candidate, ballot proposition, or political committee support or opposition?

The best record of what ATULC spent on lobbyists will be found in ATULC's L-3 reports, and in the monthly L-2 reports filed by our lobbyist(s), all of which the PDC has in its possession. Without having reviewed those forms in detail, however, ATULC believes that none of that lobbying related to candidates, ballot propositions, or political committee support or opposition.

Regarding financial support of persons other than lobbyists, ATULC does not believe that it made any expenditures to support work related to candidates, ballot propositions, or political committee support or opposition.

- What were ATULC's PDC expenditures for anyone who lobbied for ATULC?

The best record of what ATULC spent on lobbyists will be found in ATULC's L-3 reports, and in the monthly L-2 reports filed by our lobbyist(s), all of which the PDC has in its possession.

Finally, ATULC has timely submitted annual L-3 reports and, where necessary, timely filed L-3c reports, as an employer of lobbyists, reporting to the PDC all of the contributions to political committees that a lobbyist employer is required to report.

Re: Complaint from the Freedom Foundation
PDC Case No. 43940
BIL File No. 3327-002

Dear Kurt:

Per your request, I have taken a look at ATULC's own records and have determined what portion of the amount it spent on "contributions, gifts, and grants" (as previously described to you) actually went to PDC contributions, i.e., to support or oppose candidates or ballot measures.

Based on our research, we can now advise you as follows:

- In 2014, ATULC had total expenditures of $80,507.30, of which $18,745.00, or 23%, was spent on PDC contributions.
- In 2016, ATULC had total expenditures of $101,443.04, of which $35,451.10, or 35%, was spent on PDC contributions.
- In 2018, ATULC had total expenditures of $104,227.26, of which $31,367.00, or 30%, was spent on PDC contributions.

If you have any further questions regarding this, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Re: Case No. 43940

Mr. Young,

Additional information has come to my attention that is relevant to the Public Disclosure Commission's "(PDC)" ongoing investigation into the alleged violations of the Fair Campaign Practices Act ("FCPA") by the Amalgamated Transit Union Legislative Council ("ATULC").

As you know, my original complaint examined ATULC's political activity from 2012 through 2017 and contended that it should have registered with the PDC as a political committee. However, reports recently made publicly available suggest ATULC continued to function as an unregistered political committee throughout calendar year 2018.

As discussed in the original complaint, ATULC is required by the Labor Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 to annually file financial disclosure forms LM-3 with the U.S. Department of Labor's Office of Labor Management Standards ("OLMS"). ATULC's form LM-3 for calendar year 2018 was recently filed with OLMS. See Appendix pages 2-6.

The LM-3 indicated ATULC had total revenue of $82,245 and made $104,295 in disbursements in 2018. Over the same period, C3 and C4 reports filed with the PDC by recipients of ATULC contributions indicate it made at least $30,250 in reportable political expenditures in 2018. See App. 7. Thus, at least 29% of ATULC's disbursements and 36.8% of its revenue went towards reportable political expenditures in 2018.

The amount spent by ATULC on reportable political activity in 2018 is sufficient to establish that electoral political activity continues to be one of its primary purposes, lobbying being the only other noteworthy purpose as reflected both by the union's own description of its mission and its actual expenditures.

I hope this information proves useful to your investigation. Please do not hesitate to let me know if you have any questions or if I can be of any further assistance in this matter.
