

Complaint Description

David Churchman

reported (Fri, 2 Jul 2021 at 2:52 PM)

As stated above, this is a candidate in a two person race for a council seat. No information is available about the candidate except a solitary email address. He has failed to file any of the required registration, financial disclosure or contribution reports. It is feasible this candidate could be elected if an inopportune event occurred to his only opponent which makes the lack of data pertinent.

What impact does the alleged violation(s) have on the public?

Joshua Harem filed to run for election for Puyallup City Council, District 1 with the Pierce County Auditor in mid May 2021. He has since failed to file any documentation with the PDC including C1, C3, C4 reports and of most importance a Financial Disclosure. As such the voting public have no idea as to his financial obligations and sources of income that would indicate how he could be influenced or act as a city councilor if elected. Although it appears he is not concerned about raising contributions, there is always a chance his opponent could be incapacitated or worse between now and election day. If that should occur, he most likely would be elected. PDC Information regarding the candidate is a vital source of data in election selection.
