As far as I'm aware we have reported all donations within the designated time period. We did conduct a crowd funding campaign over a three day period, and as soon as the donations were collected, we filed a report regarding them. As far as carrying over funds from one campaign to the next, this goes directly to Mr. Lenk's last complaint which I have already asked for your assistance on. Maintaining a bank balance from one campaign to the next is how the committee has always done things. If this is not allowed, where is that money supposed to go? If we don't spend all the money we raise for a particular campaign, what should we do with the excess funds? I only took charge of the committee in July (maybe August?) of 2017, and am still learning the ropes. If there is a way to reclassify ourselves so that we are a continuing committee instead of needing to refile with each campaign, we would love to do that. I am open to suggestions. Please let me know if we are indeed out of compliance and if you know how we can remedy that.
Thank you.
